LET'S TALK ABOUT MOVIES

By VELDA SEAMANS

Starting tonight Secret Agent 907 is back — Sean Connery. In "YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE." In each of the Bond movies there is always a new gimmick, and in this one it's a do-it-yourself Auto-giro. . . . Comes packed in three suit-cases, weighs about 250 pounds and flies at 130 miles an hour. . . . There's a new car in the picture, too — but you'll never believe that! In "YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE," with Karin Dor as his beautiful enemy who would rather switch than fight. Another thrill-packed adventure.

Be sure to get your chance on the watch to be given away just before Christmas. . . .

Be seeing you at the movies. . . .

GIRL SCOUT TROOP GOES ON HIKE

Nineteen members of Girl Scout Troop 311 took a 5-mile hike November 2 accompanied by Mrs. Gail Sinyard, Mrs. Kenneth Petre, and Mrs. Perry Henley. They observed many forms of nature, including two does, and enjoyed a wolver roast at Bois d'Arc.

FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Roy Wilson was a guest of the Friday Bridge Club which met with Mrs. Charles Harrell on November 10. Pink mums graced the home where two tables of players gathered.

High scorers for the afternoon were Mrs. H. C. Whitworth and Mrs. M. M. McCloughan. The hostess served apple pie a la mode and coffee.

ROSE GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. W. H. Gunter's home was the scene of a Rose Garden Club meeting on Friday, November 10. A special guest, Matt McCauley, forestry instructor at the Red River Vo-Tech School, brought a most interesting program, "Conservation and Birds," enjoyed by all who heard him.

Several attractive fall arrangements were brought by members of the club. Mrs. Jim Young was a club guest, and 12 members were in attendance. Dessert and coffee were served.

W.S.C.S. MEETS

Circle No. 3, W.S.C.S. met Thursday, November 13 at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Sam Strong with Mrs. M. E. Garand as co-hostess. Mrs. J. W. Manney opened the meeting with prayer. The circle chairman, Mrs. Albert Graves presided over the business session. Members voted to change their meeting time to 2 p.m. during the winter months. Mrs. Graves announced that there would be a pot-luck luncheon of the W.S.C.S. at the church, Dec. 3 at 12:30 and reminded members to bring their Christmas offering for the Wilson-Phillips' Fund. Mrs. Sam Strong led the devotional using scripture from Psalm 91. She brought an inspiring message on Thanksgiving. "That They All May Be One," a program from the September issue of the Methodist Woman was presented by Mrs. Johnnie Green, Mrs. W. R. Burks, Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. J. W. Manney. During the social hour, the hostesses served a dessert plate with coffee or spiced tea to 12 members, one new member Mrs. W. W. Ogsbrey, and one guest, Mrs. Everett Vinson.

Our niece, Liz, sent us a cute little ditty on. . . "How To Worry Scientifically." We thought you might like it, too, and so we are passing it on. . .

1. Never worry over rumors, or what "They Say."
2. Know your problem. Write it down. Fact it.
3. Worry about only one problem at a time.
4. Set a definite date for worrying.
5. Never worry in bed, in the dining room, living room or at Church.
6. Select an air-conditioned room, lean back in a easy chair. Set a time limit.
7. Never worry with a frowning face. Smile, sing or whistle.
8. Never worry when you are tired, sick, hungry or depressed.
9. Two times never to worry: (a) When you can help the situation; (b) When you cannot help the situation.
10. Never worry alone. Take it to the Lord. See Proverbs 25:19 and Philippians 2:6.

Girls, we would like to add to this. . . never worry about your wardrobe. Just come to Raley's Style Shoppe. As sure as you are born, we can help.

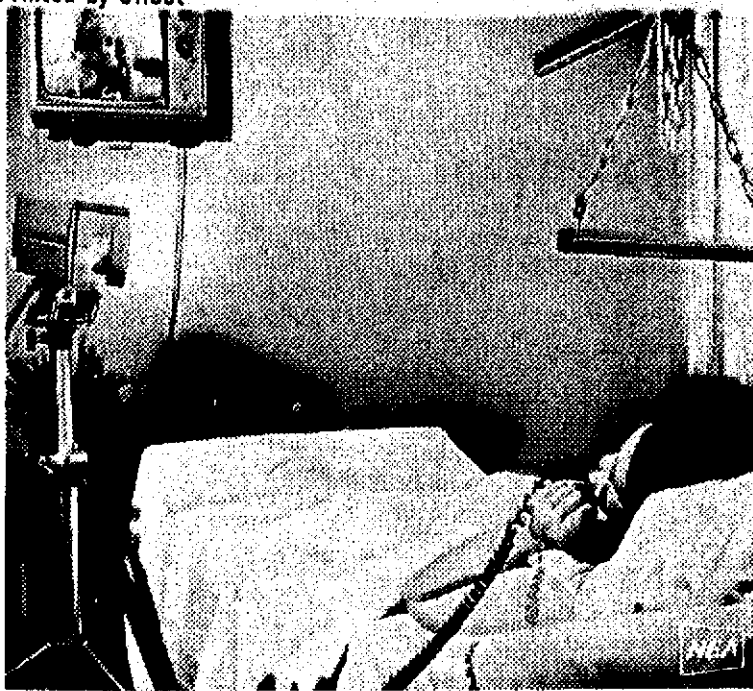

The sportswear is a wardrobe fixer if ever there was one. You get a jacket, skirt, overblouse to blend and match. Add a pair of those smart-fitting slacks and you have something. The complete outfit will cost in the neighborhood of $45.00 and you should see those Autumn colors!

If you want to be high on the dry side of fashion, choose a Rain Shedder all-weather coat. We love the brownish-green with black belt, $18.00 and the places you can't wear that geranium red pure silk in aren't on the map! Never mind worrying about a new after-five dress. We have them in crepe, lurex, silks & etc; stunning styles from $20.00 up.

There are so many other things and the space is gone. Come for yourself and the place is

P.S. We have received a large shipment of weathermore "Suede-kin" coats. This is our imported cotton suede in all the beautiful colors for winter. (Sure would make a nice Christmas gift).

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Dear Helen:

Husbands are sweet and adorable and I love mine dearly, but sometimes I wonder how they ever managed to live, B.C. -- Before the Ceremony.

My man won't even write a check, much less a letter. He passes the bank every day, yet, when he runs out of money, I'm the one who must run to the supermarket with our checkbook.

His parents have forgotten what his handwriting looks like. It isn't that he rejects them. He just figures I write better letters (or letters better).

He would wear the same business suit forever, if I didn't hide it in a different closet and put a change in its place.

As of now, he couldn't make a bed or cook a meal if his life depended on it, yet after two years in the Army, he lived in a bachelor apartment -- and survived.

And get this: When he needs to see the doctor or dentist, or that new thing -- set a date to get his hair super-cut -- he calls me from his office. Then I make the appointment for him, and telephone him back. Three operations, when one would do it, if he'd stir himself to look up a number.

How come marriage turns a man helpless? -- VALETARY

WIFE (That's short for valet-secretary.)

Dear Wife:

Marriage turns a man helpless in the "valetary" (I like that word!) department for the same reason it makes formerly self-sufficient females forget how to take down storm windows and repair a toaster. They now have some who can do it better.

One of the nicest surprises in marriage is discovering you have a mate who CHEERFULLY take over the jobs you dislike.

Happy valetarying, friend -- while your husband makes with the hammer and screwdriver. -- H.

Dear Helen:

In a recent column you printed an employer's letter to a job applicant. The employer said in part, "If spelling were the only factor, the effect would have been different, but when words are spelled right one place and wrong in another, it can only be attributed to carelessness."

Not "only," and not always. It can also be attributed to motor-sensory perceptual disorder known as DYSLEXIA, of which a primary symptom is the seeming impairment, the victim does not perceive that he has left out a ing his own, or that he has transposed letters, particularly those

NEW YORK (AP) -- The combination of a couple of real pros, Frank Sinatra and Ella Fitzgerald, singing everything from "The Lady Is a Tramp" to "Ode to Billy Joe" resulted Monday night in a mighty fine hour of musical entertainment. Sinatra, it appeared, was in high good humor and in excellent voice. He even took on "Old Man River" as a solo. Miss Fitzgerald, who sometimes seems a bit uncomfortable before the cameras, was at ease and relaxed and, vocally, a match for the star of the NBC special.

The program suffered, as so many of them do, in those awkward moments when the singers are between songs or climbing on stools and finding it necessary to exchange a little banter. The conversation is usually pretty stiff and silly. Sinatra would do well to take some lessons from his clansman, Dean Martin, who really handles it nicely.

The pace and the physical attractiveness of the show matched Sinatra's special of of similar shape. Since he DOES know how to spell, he will at times be correct.

This handicap is unrelated to intelligence and coordination, but is linked to sex. Girls seldom are afflicted with word blindness.

Carelessness is not a characteristic of these males, who are usually very reliable and try harder in other skills, if they have not become too discouraged from being misunderstood. Their aptitude and achievement is likely to be exceptional in mechanical work, mathematical calculations, sports and creative activities, including thinking. Many renowned scientists, musicians, athletes, politicians, actors, artists and business executives suffer from dyslexia. Often times they are protected by good female secretaries.

Child Development Centers across the nation are taking giant steps in identifying these boys in early childhood. With motor-sensory therapy, they may achieve their intellectual potential in school so that they will not fail on job applications.

In the meantime, may I urge employers to hire the handicapped, including "careless" spellers. At least don't turn them away without an interview. -- Mrs. R.B., EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, CHILD DEVELOPMENT CENTER, CALIFORNIA last season, but did not approach in quality and interest his exceptional program of two seasons back.

Earlier there was NBC's annual hour of excerpts from the "Ice Follies." To the amateur eye, one ice show looks pretty much like any other except that the girl skaters wear different costumes and the clowns have slightly different stunts. Ed Ames of "Daniel Boone" introduced the acts and was as stand-out as a host because he neither tried to make jokes nor do any wobbly skating. He did, however, sing in his rich attractive baritone. Portions of these songs were not as effective as they might have been because the synchronization of his lipstuck the pre-recorded song was not quite perfect.

ABC has decided, after all, to drop its new western series, "Hondo" after the Dec. 29 show. It will be replaced the following Friday with a new series, "ABC's Operation...Entertainment." "Hondo," spun off a John Wayne movie, suffered from low ratings.

"ABC's Operation...Entertainment" will consist of variety shows taped before audiences of servicemen. The pilot show was shot earlier this month before some Marines at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Various show business personalities will serve as one-shot hosts.

Basketball Season to Open Here

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Just one more distracting day to wait, before the nets once again begin popping at Jones Field House for its eleventh year.

A monstrous arena seating several thousand, Jones Field House has not been outdated in the least in its existence, and probably won't be for fifty more years. This year, however, the gym may get more use than ever before. The Lady Cats and Bobcats, especially, should have above-par records, and it is hoped by the Athletic Department that basketball attendance records can be broken.

Tomorrow night the Lady Cats and the Kitty Cats begin their 67-68 season, playing host to those perennial winners, Bradley. Again next Tuesday the girls' second contest will be against the same Bradley club at Bradley. Tomorrow evening at Jones Field House, though, will be the first show-off of the new Lady Cat warmup jackets, which have been in need for years. The Bobcats also have snazzy new suits.

Coach Charlotte Gibson has cut the Lady Cat squad to 15 girls, including 8 seniors, 4 juniors, and three sophomores. The seniors are Carol Anthony, Kay Coleman, Vickie Reeves, Gail Hartsfield, Sandra May, Donna Byers, Kathryn Coleman, and Nellie Churchwell. The four juniors are Juane Reynolds, Jo McKamie, Debbie Powell, and Jenny Callicott. The remaining three sophomores are Mary Beth Millican, Retha Adams, and Sharon East; those are the 67-68 Lady Cats.

Football season may be over at Hope High School, but after watching the high school game for 11 weeks, this writer will explore the college football scene Saturday by attending the Arkansas-SMU game at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. It should prove to be a good basis of comparison for this one between the styles of football in high school and college. You'll hear plenty about it Monday.

And for the true fan who might be interested, the Malvern Leopards play the Fairview Cardinals in the District 4-AA championship. The kickoff for that real dilly is set for 7:30 p.m., and Malvern will match its 9-1 record against Fairview's 10-1 mark. The winner will walk away with the 4-AA championship trophy, and it will be hard-earned.

Casper Has Record in California

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP)—Two-time National Open champion Billy Casper fashioned nine under par 30-33-63 Tuesday, and set the course record in winning the $5,000 pro-am prelude to the eighth $115,000 Hahg Scotch Golf Championships.

Casper's 63, made on seven birdies and one eagle on the par 36-36-72, 6,642-yard La Costa Country Club course, erased the record of 65 established last year by Miller Barber of Sherman, Tex.

The victory was worth $500 to Casper, playing before hometown friends from nearby San Diego.

In second place, at a remote 5-under-par 67, was Randy Glover of Florence, S.C., who won $425.

Congested in third place at 68 were Deane Beman, Jack McGowan, Hawaiian Ted Makalena, Dick Sikes, Gene Litter, Tommy Jacobs, Don Fairfield and Pete Brown, who was aided by a hole in one. Each made $240.

The team best ball was tied at net 57, 15 under par, by pros Ken Sill of Tacoma, Wash., who had former Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Sandy Koufax, La Costa Club president Merv Adelson and Singer Frankie Avalon as his partners and pro John Lotz, Hayward, Calif., with partners George Rains, Don Briggs, and Frank King. Each pro won $375.

The professionals get in a practice round with their partners in the unfamiliar scotch format Wednesday. Play is selective drive, then alternate shots until the ball is holed out.

Malvern, Fairview in Title Game

The Malvern Leopards, a pre-season choice, and the Fairview Cardinals, a pre-season dark horse, will meet for the Div. 4AA football title Friday night at Malvern. The clash will bring together the league's No. 1 defensive team (Malvern) against the No. 1 offensive team (Fairview).

The Leopards enter the game with a 6-0-1 conference mark and the Cardinals are 6-1-0. Malvern played a 7-7 tie with Crossett the third week of the season and the Cardinals lost a 14-13 contest to Smackover in the second week of the season.

Despite what statistics might lead one to think the Leopards do have a good offense and the Cardinals do have a good defense. Fairview has scored 292 points and allowed 87 points. Malvern has scored 252 points and allowed 41 points. Fairview has a 277-yard per average game of offense while Malvern has 213-yd. ave. Malvern has allowed an average of only 110-yds. per game to their opponents while Fairview has allowed an average of 154-yards. Fairview has scored 43 touchdowns and Malvern has scored 36.

Coaches David Aple of Malvern and George Branch of Fairview have developed their teams smoothly this season and this championship game should be one of the classics of 4AA in recent years.

This is the final week of play. Four of the 4AA teams have completed their season. Other teams in action this week will be Camden at Smackover in league play and Crossett host to Hamburg in non-league play.

Results last week: Malvern 28 Smackover 0; Fairview 34, Crossett 6; Warren 33, Arkadelphia 18; Non-conference games: Magnolia 14, DeQueen 0; Hope 13, Nashville 27; Camden 0, Hamburg 6.

The Standings (4AA games only)

Team	W	L	T
Malvern Leopards	6	0	1
Fairview Cardinals	6	1	0
Crossett Eagles	5	2	1
Magnolia Panthers	5	2	1
Smackover Bucks	4	3	0

Unitas Has Regained Loop Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — It took Johnny Unitas only 35 minutes to regain the lead among National Football League quarterbacks with a display of superior passing last Sunday against the Atlanta Falcons.

The veteran quarterback of the Baltimore Colts completed 17 of 20 passes for 370 yards and four touchdowns before retiring early in the second half. He hit with a string of 12 consecutive completions. Unitas hit with 13 of 16 for 340 yards in the first half and also set up two other touchdowns with his passing.

Unitas' performance ended the short reign of Sonny Jurgensen of Washington as the top passer in the involved compilation that includes percentage of completions and interceptions, touchdown passes and average gain.

All of the other individual leaders retained their positions after the ninth game of the season. Cleveland's Leroy Kelly still is out front in rushing with 748 yards, an edge of 64 yards over runner-up John Roland of St. Louis. With five games to go the only other man within shooting distance of the 1,000 mark is Mel Farr, the Detroit rookie, with 609 yards, and he's a long shot.

Willie Richardson of Baltimore, the top pass catcher with 44, has a new challenger in Jerry Smith, Washington's tight end who has made 40 catches count for eight touchdowns. Still the top touchdown catcher still is Homer Jones of New York with 10.

Jim Bakken, St. Louis' place kicker, is making a runaway of the scoring race with 92 points. Bruce Gossett, the Los Angeles Rams' field goal man, is next with 67 points.

Other individual leaders are Pat Studstill of Detroit with a 45.4-yard punting average, Gale Sayers of Chicago with a 38.6-yard kickoff return average, rookie Ben Davis of Cleveland with a 13.6-yard punt return average and Dave Whitsett of New Orleans with seven interceptions.

Players finished in double figures led by Ron Perry's 22 points. Lavel Carrier led the Colts with 19 points.

Broyles Seems Pleased With His Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks concentrated on fundamentals during a 90-minute workout in pads here Tuesday, and Coach Frank Broyles seemed pleased with the practice.

He had particular praise for the passing drill, and said quarterback Ronny South had "another good day."

He also complimented South's receivers, split end Max Peacock, tight end Mike Sigman and tailback David Dickey. "We had a pretty good practice," Broyles said, "but we really don't know what to work against, because SMU has so many plays and pass patterns. It's really guess work as to what we will see Saturday."

The Razorbacks play Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Broyles said his only injured player was defensive end William Ketcher, a junior, who has a pinched nerve in his shoulder. He said sophomore Tommy Dew would start in place of Ketcher, but that Ketcher probably would see some action.

Broyles said the Porkers would be working on their kicking game today.

Celtics Just Barely Beat Supersonics

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Weiss played 24 minutes against Boston Tuesday night. They were almost as many as he played in each of his two previous pro seasons, and they were almost too many for the Boston Celtics.

Weiss sat out the first and third quarters, but during the two periods he was on the court he scored 29 points as the new Seattle Supersonics battled Boston right to the final buzzer before bowing 114-111.

The 6-foot-2 guard, who played only 30 minutes in 1965-66 and just 29 last season with the Philadelphia 76ers, hit on 10 of 16 shots from the field and nine of 11 foul shots.

Weiss scored 16 of his points in the fourth quarter when he brought the Supersonics, who had trailed by as many as 17, to within two points of the Celtics on four different occasions.

The game was the first half of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden. In the nightcap, the New York Knickerbockers trounced the San Diego Rockets, the loop's other new team, 122-109.

In other NBA action the Detroit Pistons snapped the St. Louis Hawks' nine-game winning streak with a 124-107 victory and the 76ers bombed the Cincinnati Royals 122-102 in a doubleheader at Philadelphia, and the San Francisco Warriors edged the Bulls 129-123 at Baltimore.

Houston beat Anaheim 113-106, Pittsburgh drubbed Oakland 128-98 and Minnesota thrashed Kentucky 125-75 in American Basketball Association action.

New York sealed San Diego's seventh straight loss by outscoring the Rockets 18-4 late in the third period. Willis Reed led the Knicks with 27 points. John Block's 18 topped the San Diego scoring.

Terry Dischinger and Dave DeBusschere wrecked St. Louis' hopes of a 10th straight victory. Dischinger poured through 39 points and DeBusschere 33 for the Pistons, who led only 47-46 at halftime. Dick Snyder scored 22 for the Western Division leading Hawks, who lost for only the second time in 18 games, 8.

Wilt Chamberlain, who in one game this season failed to take a shot from the field, took 14 against Cincinnati and hit on 12.

He also made three of six foul shots for his season high of 27 points. Jerry Lucas scored 19 for the Royals, who played without the injured Oscar Robertson.

San Francisco put down a late Baltimore charge for its victory. Nate Thurmond led the Warriors with 26 and Jeff Mullins netted 25. Don Ohl paced Baltimore with 33, and Jack Marin added a pro career high of 31.

Boston Player Most Valuable

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox, coming within a single first-place vote of unanimous selection, was named the American League's Most Valuable Player for the 1967 baseball season today.

The 28-year-old outfielder, winner of the circuit's Triple Crown while leading the Red Sox to their first pennant since 1918, drew 19 votes for first place and one for second in the balloting by 20 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Cesar Tovar, a Minnesota sparkplug while playing second base, third base and center field, drew the other first-place vote, but finished in a seventh-place tie in the over-all balloting. Tovar batted .267 last season.

Yastrzemski thus failed to match the unanimity achieved by Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals in capturing the National League's MVP award last week.

Yastrzemski collected 275 points in becoming the first Red Sox player since Jackie Jensen in 1958 to take the MVP prize. The voting by two baseball writers from each city was on a basis of 14 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third down to 1 for each 10th place vote.

Twins' slugger Harmon Killebrew placed second with 161 points followed by catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit, 137 points, pitcher Joe Horlen of the Chicago White Sox 91, outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit 88, and pitcher Jim Lonborg of Boston, 82.

Tovar and shortstop Jim Fregosi of California had 70 points apiece. Pitcher Gary Peters of the White Sox and first baseman George Scott of Boston rounded out the first 10 on an over-all list of 24.

Frank Robinson of Baltimore, a unanimous choice as AL MVP in 1966, finished 11th this year with only 31 points. He was sidelined for almost four weeks with a mild concussion that resulted in double vision, but still wound up second to Yastrzemski in batting with a .311 average.

Yastrzemski's batting mark was .326. He tied Killebrew for the home run title with 44 and led in RBI with 121.

The Boston star's contribution was rarely more evident than during the final two days of the regular season when the Red Sox were struggling to beat the Twins and Detroit Tigers to the wire.

In the next-to-last game of the campaign, he drove in four runs on three hits, including a homer, as Boston downed Minnesota 6-4. The following day, Yastrzemski collected four hits and two RBI in the Sox' 5-3 victory over the Twins. Boston took the flag by one game over Minnesota and Detroit.

Killebrew batted .269 and drove in 113 runs. Freehan hit .283 with 20 homers, 73 RBI and a number of game-winning safeties. Horlen posted a 19-7 won-loss record while leading the league in earned run average with 2.06.

Kaline wound up third in batting with .309. Lonborg, the Cy Young award winner as the AL's outstanding pitcher, was credited with 22 victories. Tovar's final statistics also included six homers and 49 runs batted in.

Simpson Can Wrap Up Some Titles

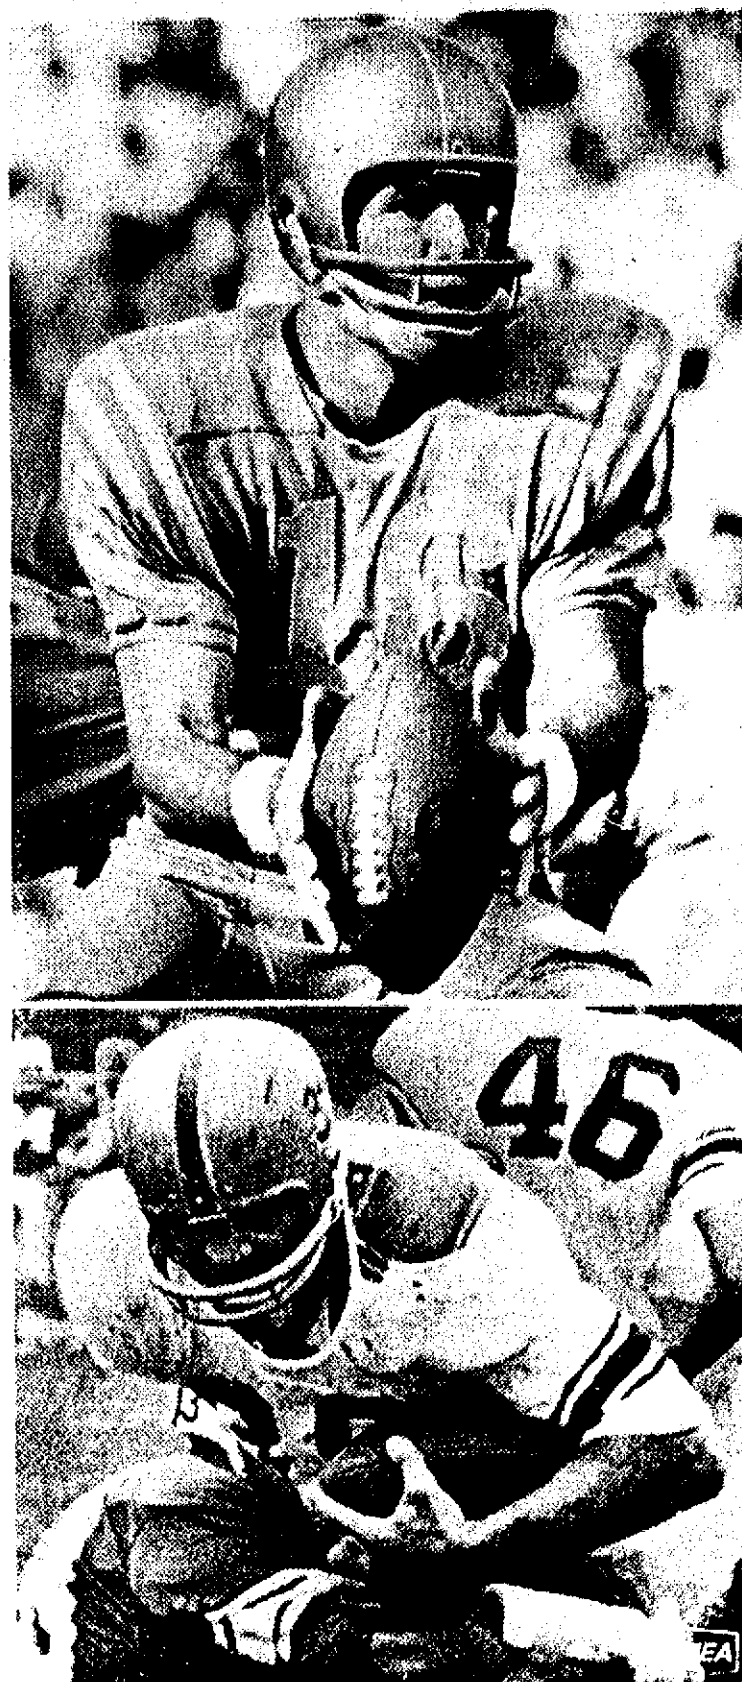

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson of Southern California and Jim Poole of Davidson can wrap up major college football's individual offense titles Saturday in their final games of the season, but Kim Hammond must wait another week for a third crown.

Simpson, who must run against top-ranked UCLA, has gained 1,238 yards rushing in 236 carries a healthy 132-yard spread over Gene Morris of West Texas State, who finishes against Wichita State.

Poole, who closes at West Virginia, has 146 pass completions to 136 for both Terry Stone of New Mexico and Sal Olivas of New Mexico State, who will throw against each other.

Hammond, with 1,915 yards on 283 plays, must wait until Nov. 25 against Florida to win the total offense title. He holds a 155-yard lead over Olivas.

Leroy Keyes of Purdue holds a commanding lead in scoring with 108 points and Ron Sellers of Florida State is the top pass catcher with 83.

EAST SIDE, WEST SIDE: Two top candidates for All-American honors this season are UCLA's Gary Beban (top) and Larry Csonka of Syracuse. Quarterback Beban will soon lead the Bruins in a showdown match with USC for the Rose Bowl bid while fullback Csonka has paced the Orangemen to a winning season.

Graves Vows the Run Was the Greatest

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"It was," said Florida Coach Ray Graves, "the greatest run I have ever seen in college football."

"It" was a 52-yard scoring dash made by flanker Richard Trapp late in the game that brought Florida within two points of Georgia. Moments later, Trapp caught a 24-yard pass, setting up a field goal that won the game for the Gators 17-16.

Trapp, the Associated Press Back of the Week, broke no fewer than seven tackles on his touchdown run, game films revealed. In all, the 6-foot-2, 177-pound senior caught nine passes for 174 yards.

Trapp is the kind of player who gets mad if he doesn't go all the way every time he catches the ball, Graves said, and this competitive spirit made him a .350 hitter for Florida during the baseball season and the school's former pool and ping pong champion.

It also led him to rifle an assistant coach's desk to "borrow" some pictures of last year's Georgia-Florida game for some last-minute bonding up.

"We never had a boy work harder to play," Graves said. A close runner-up for Back of the Week was UCLA quarterback Gary Beban, who completed 14 of 22 passes for 284 yards and three touchdowns in the Bruins' 48-0 victory over Washington. Beban also scored a 24-yard run.

Tart Retains Lead in the ABA Scoring

MINNAPOLIS (AP) — Laverne Tart, former Bradley star, now with the Oakland Oaks in the American Basketball Association, retained his scoring lead in the ABA last week.

League statistics announced Tuesday show he has scored 365 points in 13 games for an average of 28.1. Bob Verga, the former Duke star now with Baltimore, is second with 216 points in eight games for an average of 27.0.

Mel Daniels of Minnesota is third in rebounds with 214 for an average of 17.8. Larry Brown of New Orleans is No. 1 in assists with 67 for an average of 5.1. Salvage of Anaheim is top in three-point goals with 36 out of 115 outside of the 25-foot line.

Junior Rose Bowl Pairings Has Narrowed

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Toledo University, North Texas State, Virginia Tech or Utah State appeared to be the top possibilities today to meet a California representative in the Dec. 2 Junior Rose Bowl game.

Switching formats this year, the game no longer will match leading junior college teams. Instead, a four-year school from the California Collegiate Athletic Association will battle a visiting club.

Although undefeated San Diego State has already won the CCAA championship, the Camels' Bowl at Sacramento has first call on its services if they are desired. The Aztecs of San Diego meet Montana State on Saturday and the winner could be the Camella selector.

Southern Cal Picked Over UCLA

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — When college football follows form, even Aunt Martha can pick the winners. But why does she always take her vacation at this time of year?

Last week's average was .774, lifting the seasonal average to .731.

Southern California over UCLA: Gary Beban, UCLA's magician who plays quarterback, pulled his miracle of the year in the opener at the expense of Tennessee. This time it will be O.J. Simpson of the Trojans who performs the miracle and takes his team to the Rose Bowl.

Tennessee over Mississippi: This one will be played on a neutral field in Memphis and that will be the only neutral thing in the area. Dewey Warren, possibly the best passer in the conference, will decide it for the Volunteers.

Purdue over Michigan State: Would you believe that the Spartans will be dropping their fifth in a row?

Indiana over Minnesota: Why should those hungry Hoosiers start a losing streak this late in the season?

Texas El Paso over Wyoming: The heat and linebacker Dennis Carr will get to the previously unbeaten Cowboys.

Oklahoma over Kansas: There was doubt early in the season about the Oklahomans' offensive line. There isn't anymore.

Oregon State over Oregon: The margin will be so great that Mike Haggard the Beavers' field goal kicker won't be needed.

Notre Dame over Georgia Tech: Midseason injuries have ruined the Georgia Tech attack. In contrast, everyone in the Irish line-up is healthy.

North Carolina State over Clemson: The Wolves are solid through the middle with Dennis Byrd and Terry Brookshire two of the league's better defensive players.

Alabama over South Carolina: Kenny Stabler's southaw passing decides.

Army over Pittsburgh: Down through the years Army never has won in Pittsburgh. The Cadets will this time and will wind up going to a bowl.

Tiger Will Defend His World Title

Associated Press Sports
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Dick Tiger is the light heavyweight boxing champion of the world and he defends the title here Friday night against Montana's No. 1-rated 175-pounder, Roger Rouse, who admits he was once the best street brawler in Anaheim.

The 38-year-old Tiger—christened Richard Detho in faraway Nigeria—has his immediate thoughts pinned on the nationally televised fight. But his deepest concern hinges on the turmoil in Africa and the safety of his family in the new secession state of Biafra in the east-ern part of Nigeria.

Tiger is staying and training at a downtown hotel. The most important furnishing in his room is a shortwave radio. It is tuned in on the Voice of America.

Before and after drills Tiger has the set on, trying to hear anything possible of the strife in his native country.

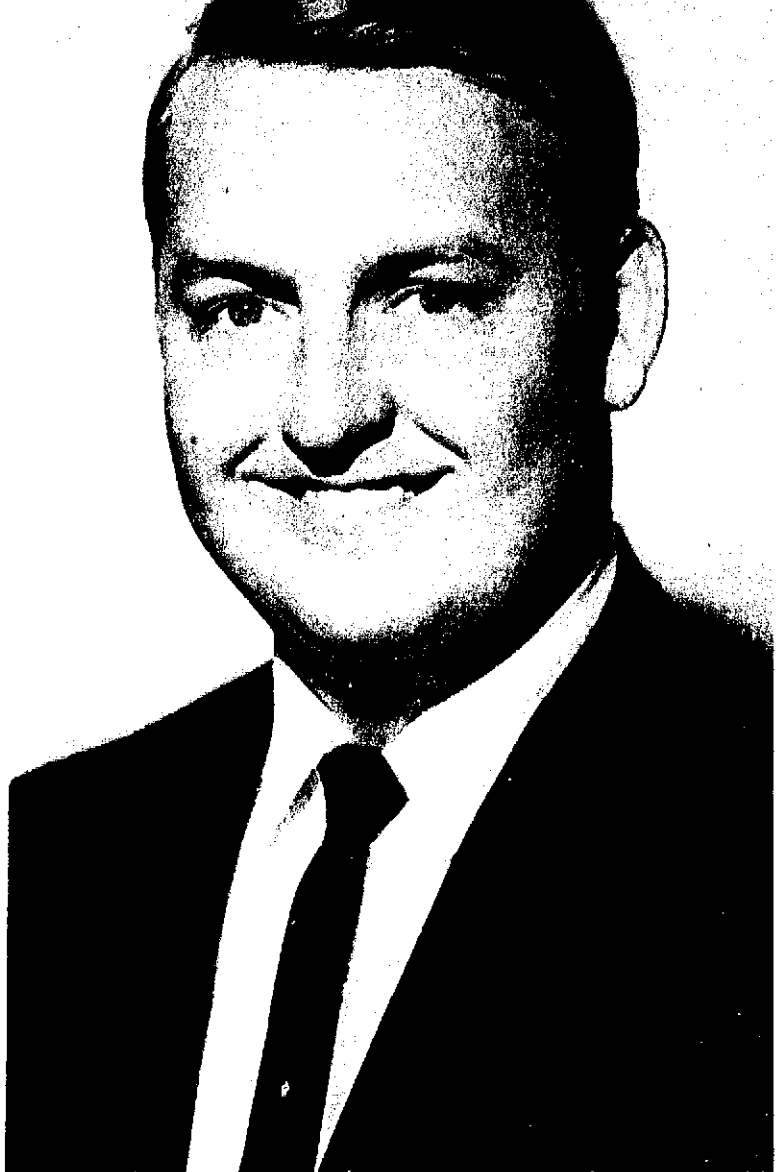

"I have a wife and six children — it should be seven by now and I haven't been able to hear a word about them since I left for this country," Tiger said the day, venturing into a personal and political subject he doesn't like to dwell upon because of the possible repercussions to his family.

How much Tiger's personal problems will affect his fight Friday is anyone's guess.

Credit to That Old Georgia Boy

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I hate to admit it, but I just have to give credit to an old Georgia boy."
Fran Tarkenton, University of Georgia, Class of 1961, was talking about Larry Rakestraw, Georgia, '65, last Sunday after the unheralded youngster led the Chicago Bears to a convincing 34-7 National Football League triumph over Tarkenton's New York Giants.
Rakestraw, who threw three touchdown passes and ran for two more scores in what he described as his "most satisfying day in football," was named the NFL's Offensive Player of the Week today by The Associated Press.
The 25-year-old quarterback, who spent most of the 1965 and 1966 seasons on the Bears' taxi squad, came off the bench after starter Jack Concannon was shaken up in the second quarter with Chicago trailing 7-0.
He tossed a 23-yard TD pass to Ronnie Bull on his second play, came back with an eight-yard payoff pitch to Johnny Morris a few moments later and hit Dick Gordon with an 18-yard scoring pass in the third quarter. Rakestraw also scored on a one-yard sneak and ran 12 yards on a bootleg for the Bears' last touchdown on an impromptu bootleg that fooled his teammates as well as the harassed Atlanta defenders.
"It was a big thrill—my first game in Wrigley Field," said Rakestraw, who followed Tarkenton to the Georgia campus but finished far in front of the Giants' scrumbler in their first round.
"You have to have some lucking, and we got it for a change," he added. "It was a challenge and I had time."
"I really didn't expect to play," Mr. Bliss told me before the game to be ready."

Named Office Manager Reserve Board Avoids Tight Money Moves

was announced today by James V. F. Brown, store manager. Cooper Service store features a full line of Cooper passenger, truck, farm and implements. Cooper Service offers complete car care center and a complete line of Philco television, stereo and appliances.
Barksdale was born in Hope, Ark., and graduated from high school in Prescott, Ark. He attended Howard Payne University and the Air Force Administration School. He first joined Cooper nearly two years ago as a bookkeeper in the Texarkana Cooper Service store. A short time later, he was promoted to budget manager.
He, his wife, Nina and their son, Todd Allen, presently live on Kenwood Rd., Pine Bluff.

College Moves to Weed Black Power Elements

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Officials at the predominantly Negro Central State University—scene of violent rioting—moved today to weed out what they call organized Black Power elements on campus.
School officials confirmed that some radical students may be expelled.
Central State President Harry Groves ordered the school closed until after the Thanksgiving holidays following Monday night's rioting that resulted in 94 arrests.
Most students had left the campus by Tuesday night, but armed National Guard troops patrolled the campus amid intermittent snow and rain.
Highway patrolmen and Greene County sheriff's deputies sealed off the university, setting up five checkpoints at campus gates.
Though the rioting was touched off by the expulsion of one student, university officials say a Black Power movement is involved.
"We're going to clean that (Black Power) thing out and this gave us the opportunity," said John H. Bustamonte, chairman of the school's board of trustees, commenting on the rioting that resulted in the hospitalization of one highway patrolman and damage to campus dormitories.
"It is not just something to be shoved aside and dealt with as a normal student demonstration," Bustamonte added.
Contacted at his home in Cleveland, Bustamonte said that campus Black Power advocates were a "well financed, highly organized disciplined group."

Chiefs Grind It Out on the Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City's grind-it-out offense continued to gain much of its yardage the old-fashioned way—on the ground.
American Football League statistics released today show the Chiefs with an average of 153.3 yards gained rushing per game—tops in the league.
Mike Garrett, Curtis McClinn, Bert Chinn and Gene Thompson share the rushing load and the dangerous pass catchers. The 1,713 yards they've gained represents 54.6 of the Chiefs' total of 3,146 yards.
Of the AFL's top four offenses, Kansas City's is the only one averaging less than 200 yards per game in the air. Len Dawson's passing game has averaged 155.6 yards and the overall 348.9 places the Chiefs third in total offense behind the Oilers and New York.
The Chiefs, with Joe Namath leading the bulk of the throwing, led in passing offense with 1,409 net yards gained while San Diego's 575.1 average yards gained per game tops that department.
In defense, Oakland's West Coast Division leaders, top all three categories with an average yield of 147.5 yards overall, in rushing and passing.
Temperature at the surface of the sun is about 12,000 degrees.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT:

"I buy my insurance from an independent agent for the same reason that I buy my money from the grocer rather than the bee. While I might save money from dealing directly with the bee, there's a possibility my lack of training, knowledge and experience would result in my getting stung."

Conclusion: There is no substitute for experience.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the face of a growing number of predictions from government officials that a return to tight money is inevitable without higher taxes, the Federal Reserve Board has so far avoided any public moves in that direction.
And some government officials believe the board members—the nation's money managers—will continue their policy of easier credit for at least the immediate future.
The Federal Reserve shies away from any public discussion of its current money policy but government officials at least don't look for any dramatic action by the board—such as a higher discount rate—in the near future.
Speculation of a possible change in policy arose Tuesday as the Federal Reserve System's Open Market Committee held its regular meeting in Washington.
Credit policy is drafted at these meetings by the seven members of the board plus 5 of the 12 presidents of Federal Reserve banks scattered across the country.
Summaries of policy decisions are made public 90 days after each meeting but bankers and economists will be watching money movements closely over the next several weeks seeking a hint to any policy changes.
It's been almost two years since the Federal Reserve on Dec. 6, 1965, raised its discount rate from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent, touching off a round of tight money which ended last April when the rate was returned to 4 per cent.
This is the rate the Federal Reserve charges commercial banks for short-term loans and other interest rates are pegged upward from it. The system also shifted bank reserve requirements, imposed newly authorized interest-rate ceilings on savings and urged voluntary restraint on business loans by banks in its attempts last year to stem inflation.
Conditions this year are markedly different and pose a unique dilemma for the board.
The heavy pressure last year was on banks because of heavy borrowing by corporations. This year corporations have switched to sales of bonds to raise money and bond market interest rates have soared to between 6 and 7 per cent.
Tight money breeds high interest rates but some interest rates are already higher now than they were last year. Many officials fear tight money could send the housing industry into another tailspin.
A shortage of mortgage funds last year resulted in a virtual recession in housing.
The Federal Reserve has strongly endorsed President Johnson's plea for a 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and individual income taxes to avoid a return to tight money.
But it's uncertain what the board will do should Congress adjourn this year without adopting the surcharge, as now seems probable.
Administration officials, from the President on down, have cited the possibility of tight money as a recurring argument in their fight for the surcharge.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Battle Marie Berry, 17, daughter of Mrs. Willie Berry of Houston, Tex., was ordered Monday to stand trial as an adult in the Sept. 22 slaying of Floie Lynette Baker, 18, of Pine Bluff.
Juvenile Court Judge Edwin Swope ordered her transferred to District Court, but not date has been set for her arraignment.
Miss Baker, a Job Corps trainee, died at an Albuquerque hospital after being stabbed in the neck.
Judge Swope said Miss Berry had been dismissed earlier from the Albuquerque Job Corps Center.

Demos Unite, Beat Off Cut in Poverty Bill

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, in a rare display of unity, have turned back every Republican attempt to cut down or alter the administration's $2.06 billion anti-poverty bill.
House leaders hope to hold together today the coalition of Northern and Southern Democrats long enough to clear the final hurdle and pass the bill.
In a series of votes Tuesday Democrats formed a solid phalanx against GOP amendments designed to revise the bill as it came to the floor from the Education and Labor Committee.
On a key proposal to strike from the committee bill a provision putting Community Action agencies under state or local control the Republicans were crushed 205 to 111. On all votes, individual members were counted but not recorded.
Several more amendments remain to be acted on before the bill faces a final vote.
The last big worry for the bill's backers is a motion made available to Republicans just before the vote on passage is called for.
If the GOP decides to ask for a cut in the $2.06 billion authorization at that point it is liable to pick up enough Southern Democratic support to pass, since the Southerners—who have not yet voted on record so far—then would have to be publicly recorded.
But an outpouring of support for the program from Republican mayors and governors in urban states has alarmed some Republicans who feel further opposition on their part could damage the party.

Rockefeller Still Hoarse

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller is "still very hoarse" and is running some fever, but rest and antibiotics are clearing up his cough, the governor's family physician said Tuesday.
Dr. Charles Wells of Morrilton told the governor's news aides that he had been with Rockefeller throughout the night at his Wintock Farm home on Petit Jean Mountain.
Rockefeller canceled all of his appointments and commitments this week because of a "serious respiratory ailment" that Wells said had been aggravated by exhaustion.

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A man accused of raping and kidnapping a Texarkana woman and wounding her 10-year-old son apparently was seeking revenge for a beating by the woman's husband, Deputy Prosecutor Charles E. Tilmon Jr. said Tuesday night.
Tilmon said the husband, a bouncer at a Texarkana night club, allegedly had fought with Johnny Edgar Porter at the night club shortly before the attack on the woman and her son about 10:30 p.m. Saturday.
Porter, 23, of Texarkana, charged with burglary, rape, kidnapping and assault with intent to kill, was bound over to Circuit Court after a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Ted Goldman Tuesday. He is being held in lieu of an aggregate bond of $50,000.
Tilmon said Porter signed a written confession at 12:50 a.m. Sunday in the office of Prosecutor W. F. Denman of Prescott, but that Porter contended Tuesday that he remembered neither the incident nor the confession.
Porter was arrested at Prescott after police recognized his car when he stopped at a traffic light. Officers said he fled on foot after spotting them, but that he offered no resistance when captured. They said the woman was in the car when Porter was arrested.
The Miller County Sheriff's office put out an alert after ambulance attendants reported that the child had been wounded in the shoulder with a .22-caliber pistol.
Officers said the woman apparently had persuaded her abductor to call the ambulance service before she was released.
Tilmon said the burglary charge arose from Porter's alleged forcible entry into the woman's home and was defined as "breaking with intent to commit a felony."
Unless Porter pleads guilty by reason of insanity and asks for a mental examination at the State Hospital in Little Rock, he will be arraigned within two weeks in Circuit Court, Tilmon said.

Not Sure LSD Caused Defects

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A University of California pediatrician says he's not sure LSD is responsible for birth defects but he has noticed an increased frequency of low-weight babies born to LSD-using mothers.
Dr. Melvin M. Grumbach of the university's San Francisco Medical Center advised young women not to take the risk.
Grumbach spoke Tuesday to a California leadership conference sponsored by the National Foundation-March of Dimes.
It will be years before scientists are sure whether LSD causes birth defects, Grumbach said.

Asks Divorce After 40 Years

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A woman is not entitled to a divorce when she waits 40 years to file the petition, the Iowa Supreme Court ruled Tuesday.
Mrs. Howard Levick charged that during the 1920s her husband hit her with a broomstick and a bucket and threw her clothes into the yard where they were rained on for two days while they argued who would retrieve them.
She also charged he spent a night with another woman some 35 years ago, a charge Levick denied.
"It is difficult to find events occurring 40 years ago impaired plaintiff's health or endangered her life," said Justice Clay LeGrand. "The limit of credulity has been reached here."
LeGrand said the rift in the 43-year marriage apparently was triggered by a "trivial disagreement" over the purchase of an automobile a few years ago.

Missionary to Speak at Hope Church

LEW DAVIS
Thursday, November 16, at 7:30 p.m., Lew A. Davis, a missionary to India, will speak at First Christian Church here. Mr. Davis lives and works in and around Balangir, Orissa, India, where he moved with his wife in 1955.
Mr. Davis works primarily in leadership training for pastors and lay leaders. A Bible training school in Balangir provides the opportunity to give more formal training to these men in a two-year course. Mr. Davis is also engaged in rural churchmanship, village visitation and literacy training.
He is the author of "The Layman Views World Mission," a Bethany Press book published in 1964. He serves with the United Christian Missionary Society, an agency of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ).
A native of Oklahoma, Mr. Davis attended Phillips University in Enid. He received the B.A. degree there and took a year's training in rural studies at Oklahoma A&M College in Stillwater. He received the B.D. degree from Bible Divinity School, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.
The Davises have three sons, John David, Bruce James and Glenn Thomas, and a daughter, Carolyn Marie.
The public is invited to come hear Lew Davis and learn firsthand of mission work in India. Refreshments will be served.

Forrest City Voters for Bonds

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — Forrest City voters approved Tuesday a $163,000 bond issue and a 1-mill tax to pay a portion of the cost of a two-mile industrial park road from Warwick Electronics to U.S. 70.
The vote was 479 for and 386 against, and the approval was the first step toward obtaining a $486,000 loan and grant from the Economic Development Administration to finance the remainder of the project, including a water and sewer system at Crowley Ridge Vocational Technical School.

Life In Arkansas

Some cities have gone to great lengths to rid themselves of having the image of being a cow town, a one-horse town or of just being plain nonprogressive.
One city was known to have built a statue containing two horses just so folks would know it wasn't a one-horse town.
Another city constructed many fountains and another built an elaborate library to impress the visitor.
Sometimes minor incidents can tear down as rapidly as a city builds up its image. Often as not, however, such image-wrecking incidents can be construed into a helpful cause.
Nevertheless, Texarkana had its share of the cow town problem recently and the Texarkana Gazette asked, "Why says Texarkana isn't a cow town anymore?"
The chain of incidents started at high noon at the corral known as the stockyards when several calves managed to escape.
Six calves were roped quickly but others wandered about town. At 2 p.m., two calves were spotted strolling across a hotel parking lot.
It was that night, however, when things really started stewing. The police department said someone called and said, "I know this sounds stupid, but a calf just walked down the street past my house."
Three policemen and a newspaper reporter gave chase immediately, but the 500-pound bovines escaped across the state line. The reporter had the calf by the tail once during the chase, but discretion being the better part of valor, he turned loose.
Police received another call the next day, shortly before the errand boy was rounded up, that a cow had just strolled through the plate glass window at an optical firm.
A passerby applied the finishing touch to the city's biggest cattle roundup in many years when he asked police, "Are you going to charge the cow with breaking and entering?"

Cong Treating Prisoners Some Better

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is telling its soldiers the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese apparently are showing a "growing awareness of the necessity for humane treatment of prisoners."

A recently-issued troop information booklet on the rights of war prisoners cites as backing for this assessment documents captured from the Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

The booklet was published in September, two months before the Viet Cong released this week three American Army sergeants it had held for a long time.

The Army translated and declassified two documents, both captured last year, at the request of a newsmen.

One of the documents, bearing the heading "Democratic Republic of Viet Nam," admonishes against "the binding of prisoners' legs and arms and carrying him like a pig."

It calls for "fair treatment" of prisoners and says: "We give them sufficient food and clothing. We do not beat or insult them and proceed with brainwashing..."

The document reserves to North Vietnam's Central Political Agency the decision on whether prisoners should be exploited for propaganda purposes.

"We must report to the Central Political Agency for instructions whenever we want to show them (the prisoners) before the masses in order to bring down the enemy's prestige or arouse the people's resentment," it says.

The paper says "no permission is granted to beat or to bind prisoners."

Before a prisoner is sent to a compound, it says, he will be issued pajamas, a towel, sandals or wooden shoes.

In prison, the document says, the captive "will be issued according to the prescribed standard a blanket, a mosquito net and a mat."

There are also these instructions for disposal of bodies:

— "Bury enemy bodies and mark their graves with epitaphs."

— "Cather all personal relics of killed soldiers to deliver to the Central Political Agency."

— "Keep secret the deceased's name, age, position and unit."

The document spells out "verbal orders and sentences to be used with U. S. prisoners" and instructs North Vietnamese troops to memorize them.

Says Key Bills Won't Clear This Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen predicts President Johnson's proposals for a tax hike, crime control legislation and a civil rights bill won't clear Congress this session.

But he said they appear the only doubtful finishers in a round dozen major administration proposals he indicated Republicans will help pass before quitting until next year.

Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday he thinks Congress can wind up the session Dec. 15 if the members will be "good boys and stay on the job." He said he would push for a delay of the next session's opening until mid-January in that case.

Although he would not say if he would join in Dirksen's forecast a Senate filibuster if the civil rights bill is brought up. The measure would outlaw the use of force to prevent the exercise by minorities of federally-guaranteed civil rights.

Dirksen repeated his earlier assertions that the House-passed bill is one-sided because it would protect only minorities and not all citizens. He said it probably could not pass the Senate in its present form even if there were no filibuster.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has delayed any final decision but has indicated he may let the measure go over until next year.

A crime control bill the administration originally wanted now is on its blacklist because of wire-tapping and other amendments tacked onto it by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. Dirksen said action on it is doubtful.

The Republican leader made clear he doesn't think there will be final action in this session on import-curbing bills President Johnson has threatened to veto. Dirksen said the Senate may act on a proposal to limit textile imports but expressed doubt the House would be willing to take it up.

Johnson appears to have little if any chance of getting action on his proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge, Dirksen said. He added he agrees with House Republican leaders that there is no support among the people for any kind of tax increase at this time.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Splitting Heirs

The contesting of a will is one of the more exciting forms of courtroom melodrama. To the spectator, and to the newspaper reader, it may offer scandal, emotion, and suspense.

But to those who are involved in a will contest, the experience may be both grim and sorrowful. All too often, a court battle over the estate of a deceased has split once-devoted families into bitter enemies.

The reason is that the issues in such a battle ("undue influence"? "mental incompetence"?) are usually issues that touch the very vitals of family life.

Did Father love one daughter more than the other? Did a son pamper him in his old age out of kindness, or out of a secret mercenary motive? Was his brother just a friendly adviser, or a financial master?

Obviously a will contest is worth preventing, if only to avoid washing the family's dirty linen in court.

The best way is to take certain precautions at the time the will is written — precautions which a skilled lawyer can tailor to fit the individual situation.

For example, it may be wise to avoid making unusual, "unnatural" bequests. Thus, a will that left more to a man's stepchildren than to his own children not only led to a court fight but also helped convince a jury that the man was incompetent when he made the will.

Another precaution may be to include explanations along with the terms of the will. Suppose a man wants to favor a daughter over a son. He may defuse the son's resentment by explaining that, while he loves them both alike, he fears that the daughter will need more financial help.

Still another possible precaution, when there might be a question of the person's mental competence, is to have evidence prepared — just in case. Medical examinations, extra witnesses, perhaps even tape recordings or movies may, by showing soundness of mind, some day discourage a will contest.

One fact cannot be escaped: the maker of the will won't be around when the will comes up for probate. Nevertheless, his care and foresight may still be the means of preserving harmony among his heirs.

To them, this can be the most important, and kindest, bequest of all.

Illegal Driver License Sales Under Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Revenue Department said Tuesday that the investigation into black market sales of Arkansas drivers licenses by former employees has turned up a buyer who switched purchases from Hot Springs to Van Buren because the price was lower.

The department said the buyer purchased the licenses in Van Buren and Hot Springs for $10 each. However, the department said the man told them he quit purchasing licenses in Hot Springs when the price went up to $12 to $15. The regular fee for a license is $2.

The department said a carnival employee questioned in a neighboring state in October said that he normally bought drivers licenses by mail from Arkansas.

The department released a portion of what it said was a statement by the man. The statement said the man had purchased possibly 50 licenses this year.

When asked who gives out licenses to drivers, the man replied:

"The transportation boss. When a man goes to work I ask if he has a license. If not, I get him one. We were paying $15 for a license. We were sending to some company in Hot Springs. When the price went up, we quit. Someone told us we could get them in Van Buren for $10 so we quit sending to Hot Springs."

Revenue Commissioner B. Bryan Larry stressed in a release Tuesday that none of the present employees of offices in Hot Springs, Van Buren and Walnut Ridge had any connection with the irregular sale of licenses now under investigation.

HOPE (ARK) STAR. Printed by Offset

Critical of Traveling Lawmakers

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken has criticized a scheduled government-financed trip to Europe by 20 Senate and House members, saying they'll leave behind a congressional snarl over funding the anti-poverty program.

"It's just as important that some of these poor people get something for Thanksgiving as it is for these people to get a good trip to Europe," the Vermont Republican told the Senate Tuesday.

Aiken's comments came after the Senate refused to take up a measure which would have provided emergency financing for the Office of Economic Opportunity, which runs the anti-poverty program.

As matters now stand, the OEO has not received its appropriation for the current year, probably won't get it until next month, and lacks authority to spend money. Agency employees aren't even guaranteed they'll be paid for work they're now performing.

As the Senate debated the measure, Aiken complained that amid the dispute over budget-cutting, a congressional delegation is flying to Europe next week to attend the meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization parliamentarians.

He said the party might be as large as 70, including members, aides and wives.

"It appeared to me that it might be just as well for some of these people working in the Office of Economic Opportunity to get their paychecks," he said in an interview later.

Eleven senators and nine House members are listed as congressional delegates to the NATO meeting in Brussels, Belgium.

There was some question whether all would attend, with Congress still in session. The delegations are scheduled to leave for Brussels Saturday night.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, who heads the House delegation, termed absurd Aiken's estimate of 70 in the congressional party.

But he said eight of the nine House members plan to take their wives along, and at least three aides will accompany his group.

He acknowledged the total might reach about 50. "But nowhere near that high at government expense," Hays said.

Aiken said and Hays confirmed that congressional wives who go along will get free transportation on a military airplane. "They ride on the plane," Hays said, "it's going anyhow."

But he said members of the delegation will pay their wives' other expenses during the week-long Brussels sessions.

Hays said he does not know how much the mission will cost. He said delegates will file expense accounts after they return.

One of the delegates is Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., sponsor of the defeated measure which would have authorized OEO spending until Nov. 30.

Javits acknowledged Aiken's criticism by agreeing that Congress often is too ready to cut spending elsewhere in the government while ignoring its own budget.

A spokesman said later Javits probably will leave for the Brussels meeting sometime Monday. "He regards it as a working trip," the aide said.

Drilling Firm Charged With Mail Fraud

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Rebel Drilling Co., of Monroe, La., has been charged with mail fraud and violation of Securities Exchange Commission regulations in connection with the drilling of several oil wells in Arkansas.

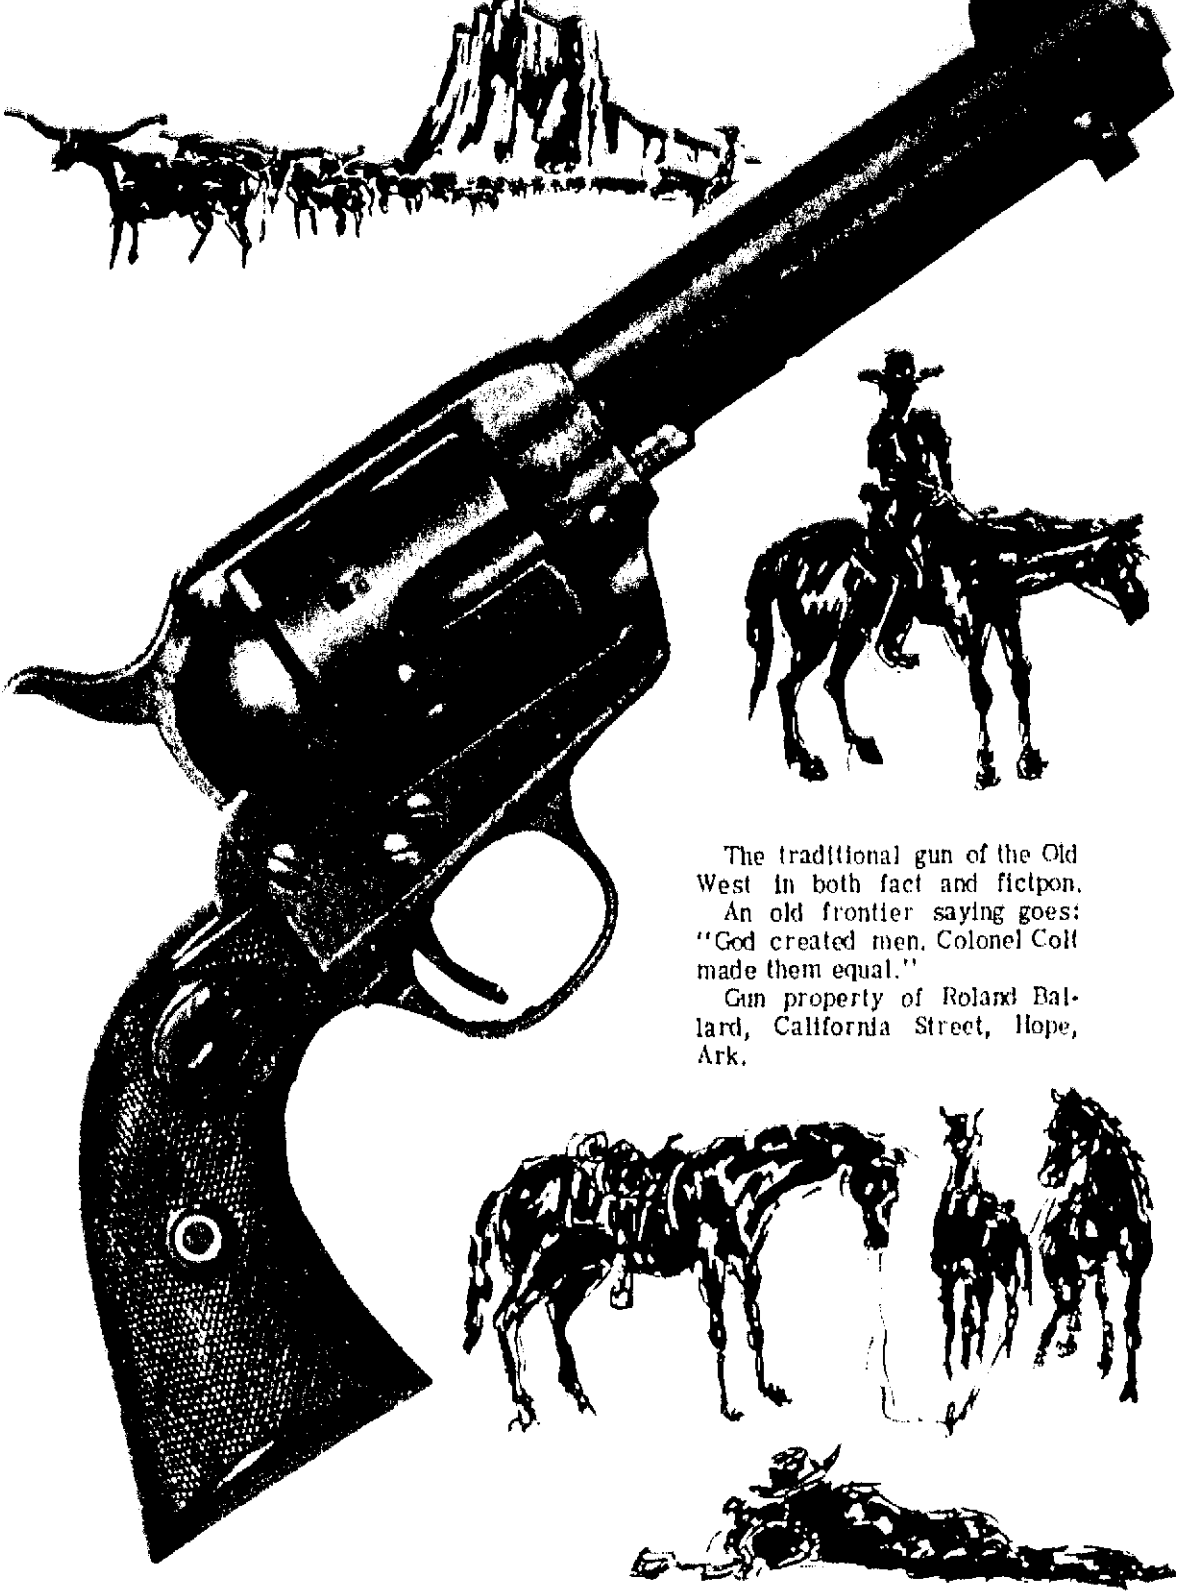

The charge, filed in U.S. District Court here Monday, alleges that the company used false and misleading information to secure funds for the drilling operations, which were conducted primarily in Utah County.

W. S. Bradham of Edmond, Ark., president of the firm, was arrested at El Dorado Saturday and was released on $10,000 bond Monday.

R. E. Harvey of Monroe, secretary-treasurer of the company and manager of its Monroe office, was released under $10,000 bond Monday.

A shake-up in the company excludes its executives from being charged with mail fraud, which is charged with the company.

LBJ Public Image Is at a New Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — In public opinion President Johnson, according to the polls, is near the bottom of the barrel. There is no place for him to go now but up.

To go up he'll have to start fighting, for a change. Much of his time in the White House has been like living in a monastery, he has done so little talking to the people about national problems.

But as a politician, and with the 1968 elections coming up, it can be taken for granted he will try to fight to restore himself in the public mind. How he fights will be one of the most fascinating sights between now and the elections.

It has become a cliché to say his popularity, including both public liking and confidence, would leap up if the Vietnam war suddenly ended. But that would be depending on a miracle, if he waited for that.

He will probably have to plug along without that kind of help. Yet public opinion about the President—as expressed in polls—has been neither very perceptive nor brilliant. One example is what happened after his two meetings in June with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in Glassboro, N.J.

The Louis Harris poll, published within two weeks after those meetings, showed Johnson's popularity had shot up to 54 per cent, an 11 per cent jump over a couple of months before.

It must have been the glamor, or hope, that made the difference, not the facts, for so far as the public knew the two meetings accomplished absolutely nothing.

Time passed, the memory of Glassboro dimmed, the Vietnam war dragged on, as it had been doing before Glassboro, and both the Harris and Gallup polls show now Johnson's standing with the people is at an all-time low. Yet, between Glassboro and now nothing has changed.

Since the biggest monkey on Johnson's back is, and has been almost from the beginning of his presidency, the Vietnam war, it would seem he would use every device to lighten the load.

One handy device would have been repeated talks to the nation on the war, with explanations. Years from now biographers and historians will have a field day trying to explain Johnson's growing reluctance to make nationwide talks.

This is particularly strange since, in private, he talks incessantly and with force. He realizes he is not at his best making speeches, this writer has been told.

Among the presidents he is the poorest speechmaker since Calvin Coolidge.

Again and again his speeches are full of corn and platitudes. Whether this is his doing is not clear. What he seems to need badly are better speechwriters.

Even President Harry S. Truman, with less education than Johnson, was better at public speaking. There were no decorations, no literary flourishes, or attempts at them. Truman was terse, tough and to the point.

The last time Johnson made a full-length talk on Vietnam was Sept. 29. It's hard to remember when he did the same before. Instead, he has a habit of throwing in bits and pieces on Vietnam in a speech.

But those bits and pieces, in a talk that roams over other subjects, too, get lost to view and memory. Recently Johnson has been depending on aides—like Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk—to answer the critics on Vietnam. The result: the criticism increases.

That there is a broad desire for explanations from Johnson was illustrated last Sunday when a minister, who should have taken the trouble to be better informed on some details, undertook to criticize Johnson for not talking more. Johnson sat in a pew listening to him.

Johnson is at his best out of public sight, dealing with people. But the public can't see that and—judging from how quickly the public has forgotten his tremendous achievements with legislation in 1965—wouldn't even remember.

His concentration on the war seems to have gotten in the way of working on Congress. That has a price tag on it: When Congress finally finishes up this year its record will be unimpressive.

In short, to resurrect himself in public esteem Johnson will have to perform on his own, in full sight of the public whose approval means so much to his ego and his political future.

Watching him do it, or try to, is what will be fascinating.

LAC to Study Accounting Firm Expenses

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Joint Auditing Committee will meet Friday to discuss expenses paid to a Little Rock accounting firm hired to consult on state fiscal and personnel affairs.

L. A. Mashburn, state comptroller until this job was merged into the State Administration Department July 1, was invited to explain the arrangement his agency had with the consultant firm, Beat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co.

The firm received $108,380 in the year ended June 30 for professional services and another $29,347 reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenses.

Warns About Changes in Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas would do well to look to New York and New Hampshire for examples of what not to do if it wants to have a new constitution, the chairman of the state Constitutional Revision Study Commission said Tuesday.

Dr. Robert A. Leffler of Fayetteville, distinguished professor of law at the University of Arkansas, told the 39th annual meeting of the state Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Arkansas that New York had made "every conceivable mistake."

"New York submitted their constitution in a one-piece package, and at least one of their recommendations was extremely controversial," he said.

The proposed New York constitution, which included a section that would have removed the state's barrier against aid to parochial schools, was defeated soundly at the polls recently.

Leffler said another of the mistakes in New York was electing convention delegates on a partisan basis and paying them salaries of $15,000.

If Arkansas calls a constitutional convention, it should assure itself of a delegation interested only in framing a new constitution by setting salaries so low that no one would be attracted simply for the money, Leffler said.

He said the constitutional convention in New Hampshire proved fruitless because its delegates met for only a month and didn't meet properly informed of the state's needs.

Leffler also explained the background and functions of the commission he heads.

Five other commission members and its paid executive secretary gave brief summaries of the work of various committees within the commission. They were Dr. Don Davis of Clarksburg, William M. Campbell of Forrest City, Harley Cox Jr. of Pine Bluff and Executive Secretary George Campbell.

All said the state's present constitution, drawn in 1874, was obsolete.

Train Hits Car, Driver Killed

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Jake Morgan, 74, of Marion (Crittenden County), ignored or didn't see warning signals at a railroad crossing near here Tuesday and was killed when a St. Louis and San Francisco passenger train smashed into his car, State Police said.

State Trooper Bobby G. said the train was traveling at about 70 miles an hour when it hit the car.

Marion is about five miles north of here.

Minnesota Plans Dream, Model City

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Plans are being made to build a kind of national model dream-city in Minnesota—possibly one weatherproofed by plastic domes—an engineer on the government-supported project reports.

Max L. Feldman of the General Electric Co. reported Monday the federal government has already contributed nearly $250,000 to aid private industry planning for the estimated $6 billion, built-from-scratch city that would have 250,000 population, and perhaps be built by 1976.

It would differ from all current federal programs in the model-city line—programs, he said, that relate only to improving "pieces of cities" within existing communities, rather than building a brand-new one incorporating the latest technological advances.

He told a science-writers seminar that planning concepts for the new city include such tentative ideas as two-mile diameter domes; multipurpose buildings to include homes, business concerns and recreational facilities; and computerized medical check-up systems.

Feldman said that while details are not complete, the objective of the Minnesota model-city would be to build "the most technologically modern city" possible—and to surmount "the gap between technological ability and its application to cities."

And he said that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, former mayor of Minneapolis, has been a prime mover in its support.

S. Security Bill Debate in Senate

By JOE HALL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Social Security bill proposing the biggest cash benefit increase in history—and the highest tax boost—heads for Senate debate with Democratic leaders pushing for passage before Thanksgiving.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield set the start of floor consideration on the bulky measure for this afternoon.

As sent to the floor by the Senate Finance Committee after more than two months of consideration the bill would, as of April next year:

—Increase the amount of Social Security checks for all 23 million Americans now receiving benefits by at least 15 per cent.

—Raise from $44 to $70 the minimum monthly benefit, a 59 per cent increase. Because of the big percentage boost in minimums, the over-all benefit increases would average nearly 19 per cent.

—Increase total benefits paid by $3.5 billion next year and $5.8 billion in 1969. Under present law, $25.5 billion in Social Security benefits would be paid out in 1968.

—Boost maximum taxes for individuals, and for employers who must match employee contributions, from the present $230.40 a year to $352 in 1968 and $422.40 in 1969.

A House-passed Social Security bill calls for a 12½ per cent minimum over-all boost in benefits and a $6 hike to $50 in the minimum monthly benefit.

Mansfield expressed confidence the bill would clear the Senate and go to conference.

Killed in Car, Truck Collision

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP) — William B. Watson, 59, of Alma, was killed Tuesday when his car was hit by a truck driven by Clavis Keith Sample, 24, of Searcy.

Tommy Donham, 3, of Alma, a passenger in Watson's car, was injured in the accident, which occurred at the intersection of U.S. 64-71 and 29th Street here.

State Police said Watson was making a left turn off the city street and onto the highway.

North Africa Landing 25 Years Ago Still Fresh in Memory

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Now in November the mind of many a paunchy, middle-aged American goes back to the time, 25 years ago this month, when U.S. troops landed in force in North Africa.

But it couldn't really have been a full quarter of a century ago. It still stands so fresh and green in the memory that it must have happened only a dusty yesterday ago.

War seemed so simple to the uninitiated then. All that had to be done was to whip that hysterical little man with the mustache in Berlin. Then everybody could come marching home, stand outside the neighborhood pool hall, and start whistling at the pretty girls again.

The pessimists feared the whole job would take six months or more. They were right. It took several more landings—and a full 30 months—before the victory in Europe was fashioned.

Every man has his own recollections of those days in North Africa, our kindergarten to war. As we plowed through sullen seas toward the "iron coast" of French Morocco, a grizzled colonel who had survived the first World War, turned to me and said:

"So this is your first experience with this kind of thing? Well, what you'll wonder about forever after is how these men will find the courage within themselves to face the things they'll have to, and to do the things they must."

Only a few days later that

Says LSD May Have Given Clue to Cause of Mental Illness

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — LSD, the potentially dangerous drug, may have accidentally uncovered a cause of considerable mental illness—the inability to express warmth toward one's fellow man—a Mayo Clinic psychiatrist says.

Dr. M. Robert Wilson Jr. said studies of a group of emotionally ill adolescents who were given the drug during treatment had revealed a common underlying emotional effect.

He told a seminar for science writers Tuesday that the common theme was expressed by one of the patients who said that during his LSD "trip" he suddenly "felt free to be compassionate and warm towards my fellow man."

Evidence from the study, he said, indicates that at least some emotionally-disturbed persons need "freedom to be warm or close" to another person, or perhaps even to express suppressed warmth for an experience they are undergoing, such as attending college.

"I therefore think," said Wilson, "that the inability to ex-

Student Can Drive for the Needy

The annual Can Drive at Hope High School has begun. This contest is in co-operation with the Hope Lions Club to help fill Christmas baskets for the needy.

The main project of the Senior Class this year will be a paper drive. The Senior Class members ask you to save all old papers, such as magazines, newspapers, books, etc., and place them on the curb outside your home December 2 and 16.

Members of the Senior Class will collect paper on these dates. The Senior Class is also having a "work day" this Saturday, November 18. Senior Class students will be available for window washing, yard raking, and any odd jobs. The prices charged will be very reasonable.

You are invited to call PR7-4160 and PR7-3242 and leave your name and address for autumn cleaning and for collection of papers.

Rusk Clashes With Antiwar Pickets

By BOB MONROE

Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Screaming mobs of antiwar pickets clashed with police in a sporadic running street battle Tuesday night as they protested a speech-making appearance by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Police counted at least 46 persons arrested from the crowd they estimated at some 3,000. Five policemen and an undetermined number of civilians were injured.

The violence broke out in front of the New York Hilton Hotel, on Sixth Avenue in midtown Manhattan, where Rusk was addressing a dinner meeting of the Foreign Policy Association.

Renewing his offer to the North Vietnamese government to "negotiate today without condition," Rusk told an audience of 1,200 "if a representative of Hanoi would make himself available anywhere to discuss peace I would be there."

He chided opponents of the war who, he said, "would brush aside a security treaty as a scrap of paper," urging his listeners to "reflect soberly on the dangers which would arise if it should be discovered that our security treaties do not mean what they say."

Departing from his prepared text he took note of the demonstrators and challenged "those who carry the banner, 'Peace in

LBJ Calls Leaders to War Meet, Fears His Public Support Down

AP News Digest

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has summoned his military and diplomatic leaders to a White House meeting on the Vietnam war—a war he says could cut even deeper into his public support.

"I may wind up with a poll of one per cent before it's over with," he is reported to have said recently.

But underlining his determination to pursue his stated goal of peace with honor in Vietnam regardless of public opinion, he used this quote from Lincoln during his toast Tuesday night at a White House reception for Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan:

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and let us...dare to do our duty as we understand it."

Johnson said "it is taking time and patience to win peace in the world. But it will be won if we have the faith to uphold Lincoln's first principle."

White House press secretary George Christian said the top-level meeting today was expected to include discussion of whether there should be a U.S. halt in bombing of North Vietnam during the year-end holidays.

There have been such halts in waging the war during previous Christmas-New Year periods and Tet, the Buddhist new year. President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has announced he wants such a halt at the end of this year.

Christian told newsmen not too much emphasis should be placed on the bombing halt subject.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, was flying to Washington for the meeting.

Others to attend included Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to Vietnam who came home earlier, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Christian said Westmoreland and Bunker were making essentially routine reports on the war's progress, along with Robert Komer, deputy ambassador in Vietnam and head of the pacification program.

Others slated to sit in the meeting: Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Richard Helms, head of the Central Intelligence Agency; and presidential assistants Walt W. Rostow and Christian.

Johnson also scheduled a Cabinet session for today at which Rusk was to review international affairs.

Johnson, whose popularity is reported considerably down by both the Louis Harris and Gallup polls, spoke of the war and his own popularity at an Oct. 25 White House luncheon for labor union officials.

Red Guns Set Off Big U.S. Ammo Dump

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese mortar attacks on the airstrip at Dak To today blew up the main ammunition dump for allied forces in the embattled central highlands town, destroyed two big U.S. C130 transport planes and damaged another, and set off a raging fire which spread to the adjacent special forces camp.

Although the ammunition dump at the airstrip was the main supply point for U.S. forces in the area where hard fighting has raged for two weeks, American officers there said they had enough ammunition on hand to withstand a major attack "and we can get more."

The special forces camp, housing 500 Montagnard irregulars and 15 U.S. Green Beret advisers, was being evacuated.

Northeast of Dak To in the coastal lowlands, Communist gunners shot down their third U.S. helicopter in two days, killing eight Americans. But around the highlands town where thousands of North Vietnamese and American troops have been battling since Nov. 1, the chief attacks were with mortars, artillery and planes for the second successive day.

The North Vietnamese made two mortar attacks on the Dak To airstrip, which they had shelled three times in the two weeks.

The first attack, in the morning, lasted two hours. It the two C130s were destroyed, a third was damaged, and three South Vietnamese troops were reported wounded.

The second shelling began shortly before dark and lasted about an hour. An officer in charge of the ammunition dump estimated there were 500 tons of stores in it, ranging from rifle bullets to heavy artillery shells.

As about 30 mortar rounds dropped into the area, sheets of flame spewed across the area of the dump and smoke billowed high into the air. Tracers soared into the sky from the exploding shells. The fire spread to the adjoining special forces camp which was reported in flames.

No planes were reported hit in the second attack, and there was no immediate word of casualties.
